Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for by this some have entertained angels without knowing it.

Fun Meal Ideas for Families, Parties, Gatherings and Groups

Build-your-own Pizza Night Use Greek flatbread, sauce, and a variety of toppings that guests can choose from. Bake pizzas on cookie sheets lined with parchment paper and mark names using crayon by each pizza.

Chili Party Provide a large pot of chili (have others bring different types if you are serving a crowd). Guests can bring toppings--sour cream, chives, onions, olives, cheese etc. Bread or baked potatoes and a salad really round out the meal!

Soup and Salad Bar Perfect for a winter day! A pot of warm soup or chowder, a big bowl of lettuce and a bunch of fun salad toppings. Guests can bring toppings and/or soup and everyone can make their own salad. Throw in a loaf of bread and some dressings and you've got a party!

Taco Tuesday (or Wednesday, or Thursday...) Set out hard and soft shells, beef, chicken, refried beans, lettuce and all the taco accourrements you can think of.

Appetizer Extravaganza whip up a couple of your favorite appetizers and have each family invited bring their favorites, too. No worrying about spoiling your dinner since the appetizers ARE dinner!

Theme Dinners get together and choose a theme--Italy, French Feast, Old Fashioned BBQ, Southern Hospitality, A Taste of Asia. Everyone can bring a unique dish that matches the theme (and you can assign categories if you're worried about duplication).

Heritage Potluck This is a fun activity for a small group--everyone can bring a dish from their family's country of origin, or an item that was a family tradition they had growing up. You can assign categories (main dish, side, dessert) and see what fun things end up on the table!

Just Desserts Have guests bring a favorite dessert--or, provide an extravagant sundae bar with ice cream, toppings, bananas, brownie chunks, and

My favorite group meals & hosting ideas

